Frauds such as issues in payroll, payments to ghost employees, replacing customer’s bank account with the employee’s own bank account, manipulating the amount of the employee’s own invoice, or his relatives are quite common in this sector.

The introduction of computers and complex devices to modernize the electric grids has opened breaches of security leading to cyber-attacks that use computers vulnerabilities to penetrate networks.